

Prologue - The Birth

In 1929 the Great Depression had begun. All the world got caught in the whirlpool.

In the midst of the chaos

was born.

He was nobody but the Warren Buffett who became a wealthiest investor in the world.

Because on that year all of me began to exist.

Later in his life, he referred to the depression of 1929 as follows.

In fall of that year, the Great Crash occurred. To avoid clients who had suffered big losses, my father stayed at home for the whole evening and night.

Thus, around Nov. 30th 1929, my birth was "prepared."

My father was a stock broker.

That is why I feel something heart-warming about the Depression.

Hi, little Warrie*.

Nine months
later, on August
30th 1930, Warren
Buffett was born.

* Warrie is Warren's nick name.

Such financial upheaval was the starting point for Buffett. It was something of a "destiny" to him.

Even then, the economy was still in the midst of chaos. His father lost his job. His family was struggling with financial difficulties.
